

Press release: The Visitor Center of the GeoPark Carnic Alps

The Visitor Center in Dellach/Gail represents the center of the Geopark Carnic Alps. It can be experienced for selected fossils, rocks, guidances, interactive animations, video screens, film presentations, touchscreens and photo panels in an extraordinary and innovatively designed interior focusing on 500 million years of exciting Earth history.

The Visitor Center where the Geopark is administered and managed, is also focal point for schools, guests, nature interested laymen and professionals. Also, related Earth scientific literature is available or can be purchased.

A further task of the Geopark is the transfer and dissemination of Earth-scientific knowledge to the general public. This is done by an attractive lecture and educational program about various local and global themes of broad general interest for the public and schools.
